COUR INTERNATIONALE DE JUSTICE

INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE

Errata

I.C.J. Reports 1998, Judgment of 27 February 1998 (Sales No. 698)

Page 26, paragraph 47, line 13, to page 27, same paragraph, line 4, for "advancing the argument that the decisions of the Security Council could not form the subject of any contentious proceedings before the Court, since they allegedly determine the rights which the Applicant claims to derive from a treaty text, or at least that they directly affect those rights; and . . ." read "advancing the argument that no recourse may be had by way of contentious proceedings before the Court in respect of decisions of the Security Council, even where such decisions ruled on rights which the Applicant claims to derive from a treaty text, or at least directly affected those rights; and . . .".

I.C.J. Reports 1998, Judgment of 27 February 1998 (Sales No. 699)

Page 131, paragraph 46, lines 13-17, for "advancing the argument that the decisions of the Security Council could not form the subject of any contentious proceedings before the Court, since they allegedly determine the rights which the Applicant claims to derive from a treaty text, or at least that they directly affect those rights; and . . ." read "advancing the argument that no recourse may be had by way of contentious proceedings before the Court in respect of decisions of the Security Council, even where such decisions ruled on rights which the Applicant claims to derive from a treaty text, or at least directly affected those rights; and . . .".

The Hague, 12 October 2001.